If there's one city that lights up during Ganesh Chaturthi - it's Mumbai.

As of 2021, more than 34,000 Ganesh idols were immersed in water bodies across the city.

And we're not even counting the clay idols immersed indoors!

Goud Saraswat Brahmin (GSB) Seva Mandal in Mumbai has the richest pandal for 2022 - this year's Maha Ganpathi will have 66kg of gold ornaments, 295+ kg of silver & other precious materials in total!

Usually, idols have pandals and a pandal is a temporary shed built as a house for Ganpathi for the entire span of 10 days from Chaturthi to Chaturdashi.

And they have bought an insurance cover of a whopping ₹316.4 crores.

The insurance is issued by New India Assurance and covers a range of different risks -

A risk insurance policy to cover gold, silver & jewelry worth ₹31.97 crores.

A personal accident insurance security guards, priests, cooks, shoe store employees, and volunteers worth ₹263 crores

A fire and special peril policy worth ₹77.5 lakhs and

A public liability insurance for pandals, stadiums, and devotees worth ₹20 crores

Just how much are the premiums for such policies, you ask?

Roughly around ₹7L - ₹10L per annum.

Even the pandal with the maximum footfall in Mumbai - Lal Baugcha Raja has taken a cover worth ₹25.6 crores for which the premiums are roughly around ₹5.2L/p.a.
